We expect that a response to the factor of interest, post-infection, can be used to discover new host target. There will be some genes that are up-regulated and pathways for treatment of the symptoms of the infection. Others will be down-regulated. A molecular signature. Knowledge of gene expression changes along the infection for a particular factor will therefore consist of multiple. This timeline would allow clinicians to triage patients, genes, and the interrelationships. In addition, the and prioritize treatment to those who are at greatest risk. Factors we are interested in exploring are biologically. Finally, most of these same questions could be answered, not on or off but are expected function on a confounding exposure to chemical agents. Therefore, multiple signatures are needed. Conclusions to determine where on the continuum an unknown sample lies. (Fig. 6). The FAA is responsible for public safety through RNAi and especially labile molecule. As such, regulation and oversight of the aviation industry. There are assays for the more stable gene products (proteins). Has been a dramatic decrease in accident rates to the are likely to be the end goal of this body of work. A point that American...
